

A Level Results Not What You Expected?

If you've applied to university but haven't met your offers:

- Start by ringing your Firm Choice offer, they might still take you
- Then try your insurance offer
- Then you can try Clearing

Clearing

- You're eligible for Clearing if:
 - You're not holding any offers
 - You didn't make your offer grades
 - You applied after 30 June
- Check Track – if you're eligible you will be entered automatically and Track will say "You are in Clearing" or "Clearing has Started"
- Track will show your Clearing Number, have this ready when you contact universities
- If your status on Track hasn't changed, it might mean your universities are still considering you, so contact them
- Clearing vacancies are advertised at www.ucas.com and in The Telegraph. The situation changes constantly, so keep checking
- Clearing runs until the end of September
- See www.ucas.com for details of how to use clearing
- Sign up for the UCAS Direct Contact Service so that universities can contact you direct if they have courses which might suit you
- Keep your phone charged!

A Level Results Not What You Expected?

Things to consider when looking at Clearing Vacancies

- Get advice from school and your Ansbury Careers Adviser
- You don't have to stick with your original subject choice
- Consider other subjects which link to your A levels/Level 3 course
- Are there any related courses at your first choice university?
- Could you do your original choice of subject as part of a joint honours or modular degree?
- Could you do a relevant Foundation Degree or HND? Foundation Degrees/HNDs are available in vocational subjects and you can do a third year to top up to a full degree. They are usually taught at FE colleges and accredited by the local university and are often cheaper than a degree
- Some courses, usually in science or engineering, offer a Year 0 for students who don't have the right qualifications
- It's also worth trying courses you're interested in, even if they don't appear in the vacancy lists – you never know

What to do when you find a suitable vacancy

Think – is it really what you want?

- Check the course details – what will you be studying?
- What about the university – do you want to spend the next three years there?

A Level Results Not What You Expected?

If you're sure, contact the university, but before you ring:

- Be prepared to explain why you want to do this course at this university
- Make sure you have your Clearing Number ready
- Have your Personal ID ready so that they can look at your application form

On the phone:

- If they offer you a place, ask what will happen next and take notes – they will give you an acceptance date
- Ask if you can visit and look around
- Ask about accommodation

Get informal offers over the phone and then decide which you want to accept. Think carefully; don't panic and make a snap decision. Make sure you try visit the university before you make any decisions.

Accepting an Offer

- If a university has offered you a place, add a Clearing Choice to Track by the acceptance date – this will count as your acceptance and the university will then confirm
- You can only add one choice at a time, but can add another if the university doesn't confirm
- The university will confirm on Track and will also send you a confirmation letter – read it carefully there could be things you need to do or follow up
- Contact the accommodation office at the university immediately
- Give details of your course to Student Finance England.

A Level Results Not What You Expected?

Contacts

- There will be staff at school and college to help you
- Find everything you need to know about results at www.ucas.com
- For Clearing Advice contact Exam Results Helpline on 0808 100 8000
Contact UCAS on 0371 468 0 468 or through social media
- Check opening times at www.ucas.com/who-to-contact

Alternatives

Re-marks

- Talk to your school or college if you are considering asking for your exams to be re-marked. They will have to arrange this, there will be a cost and your mark could go down
- Tell your university you are getting a re-mark – they might not be able to offer you a place but may offer you one for next year
- Find more details on what to do at www.ucas.com/ucas/undergraduate/apply-and-track/results/exam-re-marks

Apply Next Year

If you don't get the university place you hoped for, you could take a year out and apply again. Research courses in detail and think about:

- Something related but less competitive
- A related course at the same university
- The same course at a less competitive university
- Your original subject as part of a joint honours or modular course

Use your gap year wisely!

A Level Results Not What You Expected?

- A Foundation Degree/Higher National Diploma (HND) which you could top up to a full degree. Foundation Degrees/HNDs are available in vocational subjects and usually taught at a college linked to a university and are likely to be cheaper than a full degree
- The Open University, where you study part time by distance learning - www.open.ac.uk

During your Gap Year

Use the time to improve your skills and application.

You could:

- Visit the universities you are considering
- Do voluntary work at home or abroad, see <https://do-it.org/>
- Do work experience or shadowing relevant to your course
- Do work experience or shadowing to make sure the career you're considering is right for you
- Get a job. It doesn't need to be directly relevant to what you want to do. Anything working with the public would be great for developing your communication skills
- Travel but ideally in a way that strengthens your application
- Take a qualification part time – do you need to improve your maths, English, science or IT?

A Level Results Not What You Expected?

A Job or Apprenticeship

- Many employers offer school leaver schemes where you can gain professional qualifications whilst you work. These will be directly related to your job and could be up to university level
- Make a strong CV and send it to companies; look for jobs in the local papers; check company websites for vacancies
- Research jobs using the Job Profiles at <https://nationalcareers.service.gov.uk>
- You could take qualifications through the Open University whilst you work – www.open.ac.uk
- Gain university level qualifications through a Higher or Degree Apprenticeship. Register for vacancies and find out more at www.getingofar.gov.uk, www.notgoingtouni.co.uk and www.ucas.com
- Find out more about all your options at www.notgoingtouni.co.uk

A College Course

Colleges offer some Post A level/Level 3 courses. Examples include Association of Accounting Technicians; Business Administration and Air Cabin Crew. Check college websites for details of courses and Open Days. Ask if you will have to pay fees.

Get advice

Whatever you are considering, get advice. Talk to staff at your school or college and to your Ansbury Careers Adviser.

